Subject: Wyoming Demographic Data

According to a document that recently received from the Administration on Aging, as of July 1, 2007, Wyoming has 90,500 individuals ages 60 and over and 44,681 individuals ages 70 and over. That means that 17% (almost 1 in 5) of Wyoming residents are eligible for services under the Older Americans Act, and even more if you consider CBIHS, Medicaid and Caregivers.

The document goes on to identify the population by state by five year age group. It identifies the data source as the US Census Bureau - 2007.
